

Riding the Pyramid

Helping young equestrians fulfill their dreams

Riding the Pyramid began as a family brain storming idea while we were stuck in our house during one of our many snow storms this year. The girls and I were trying to come up with a creative way to help supplement our horse show expenses. Dressage is our passion and I've been known to say to the girls, "are you riding the pyramid - if he's not relaxed why, do you think you can get collection from him?" Of course, being my daughters, I usually get grumblings, but I know, underneath all that, they're listening :)

For our first creative project we have decide to create six original acrylic paintings on canvas each one representing a level of the Dressage Pyramid of Training. Each of the horses will have a little Swarovski like BLING on their bridles!

Proceeds from the sale of our paintings will benefit two organizations that have been most influential in the girls riding success - Dressage4Kids and The United States Pony Club.

Our goal is to create scholarships to help young equestrians who have the talent and dedication to qualify for D4K and USPC Nationals, but not always the financial means to get there.

The SUCCESS of Riding the Pyramid depends on the sales of our artwork.

Thank you in advance for your support.

Jennifer, Chelsea and Meghan DeMeglio
Kirby and Finn too!

RIDINGTHEPYRAMID@aol.com

To purchase your Riding the Pyramid artwork please visit our website www.JAMARTPhotography.com/RIDING-THE-PYRAMID.html

follow us on FACEBOOK www.facebook.com/RIDINGTHEPYRAMID